The opportunities for new graduates will be limited. This will have an impact on finance talent all over the world.

— Prof Arokiasamy

Sunny skies for now: some executive recruiters face expert employment opportunity in the finance sector to be limited during this difficult period that other first companies will always require finance professionals.

— Mr Goh

We are seeing a strong demand for CFOs who are more commercial-savvy and can provide greater business insights...

— Mr How

Companies are likely to continue to be cautious in hiring finance professionals.

— Mr Tan

The finance function needs to be prepared for.

We are seeing a strong demand for CFOs who are more commercial-savvy and can provide greater business insights...

— Mr How

Duplicated duties or roles are made redundant, especially if companies are looking to tighten their belts.

We are seeing a strong demand for CFOs who are more commercial-savvy and can provide greater business insights...

— Mr How

“Any optimism should be tempered with caution and any pessimism should be balanced with a review of the situation closely and continue to monitor the economic downturn would vary for different companies and much beyond the consolidation of financial and commercial acumen. To achieve this, the mindset and culture of the organisation would have to take on a bigger role in moulding and interpreting such management information. To achieve this, the mindset and culture of the organisation would have to take on a bigger role in moulding and interpreting such management information.

— Mr How

Companies are likely to continue to be cautious in hiring finance professionals.

— Mr Tan

The finance function needs to be prepared for.

We are seeing a strong demand for CFOs who are more commercial-savvy and can provide greater business insights...

— Mr How

“Any optimism should be tempered with caution and any pessimism should be balanced with a review of the situation closely and continue to monitor the economic downturn would vary for different companies and much beyond the consolidation of financial and commercial acumen. To achieve this, the mindset and culture of the organisation would have to take on a bigger role in moulding and interpreting such management information.

— Mr How

Companies are likely to continue to be cautious in hiring finance professionals.

— Mr Tan

The finance function needs to be prepared for.

We are seeing a strong demand for CFOs who are more commercial-savvy and can provide greater business insights...

— Mr How

Duplicated duties or roles are made redundant, especially if companies are looking to tighten their belts.

We are seeing a strong demand for CFOs who are more commercial-savvy and can provide greater business insights...

— Mr How

Duplicated duties or roles are made redundant, especially if companies are looking to tighten their belts.

We are seeing a strong demand for CFOs who are more commercial-savvy and can provide greater business insights...

— Mr How

Duplicated duties or roles are made redundant, especially if companies are looking to tighten their belts.

We are seeing a strong demand for CFOs who are more commercial-savvy and can provide greater business insights...

— Mr How

Duplicated duties or roles are made redundant, especially if companies are looking to tighten their belts.

We are seeing a strong demand for CFOs who are more commercial-savvy and can provide greater business insights...

— Mr How

Duplicated duties or roles are made redundant, especially if companies are looking to tighten their belts.